

AnastasiaDate - The Success Story of a European Dating Site

What's behind the success of AnastasiaDate?

AnastasiaDate is an international dating service focused on connecting Western men with smart and beautiful women from different European countries. The company was founded in 1993 by an international couple, David and Elena Besuden who met through a dating agency in 1992 and got married that same year.

The company was named after Russia's Grand Duchess Anastasia who was a young role model for Russian people. Anastasia Date launched in January 1997. Technological innovation followed and the company launched its first mobile app for Google Store and iTunes in 2013.

As useful as online dating sites are in these modern times, many people are still very skeptical about using services like this. They are not to be blamed because most of the sites offering dating services always pose one challenge or the other. However, all of these challenges and problems normally encountered on regular online dating sites have been overcome and perfected at AnastasiaDate.com. Below are the areas the company has paid special attention to.

AnastasiaDate Scam Policy - strict and uncompromising

The safety and confidentiality of all Anastasia Date's subscribers and customers is of highest priority. There is the presence of a leading anti-scam system and team. Any confirmed profile on the site means that the lady has been personally contacted by Anastasia's staff to affirm that she is real and also to let her know she has been included into the database. In the course of this contact, she will be able to confirm her interest in a relationship with one of their intending members.

Your Online Security is guaranteed

All your details on your profile are confidential with Anastasia Date and will never be shared with any third party, be it individual or a company. Making sure all security measures are working as planned is a daily routine as only the best internet security providers (Verisign and McAfee) are used. All of your messages, transactions and contacts are in safe hands.

Affordable Services

Registration on AnastasiaDate absolutely is free with no obligation whatsoever as is looking through the profiles of available singles. The costs of other dating tools like CamShare, LiveChat or CallMe are very reasonable considering the optimum ease, effectiveness & efficiency of the site and the satisfaction of getting to know the nicest ladies on the earth.

Large number of real lovely single ladies

Anastasia Date has a membership of over four million people that span throughout the globe. With more than 80 million online visitors every year, you are bound to meet the person who best matches your needs. The number of ladies presently in Anastasia's database is in thousands and the numbers keep climbing up every minute of the day. On Anastasia Date you will find more than 13,000 active profiles of lovely, gorgeous and angelic ladies. All the female members are real & available for phone talk, video chat or even face to face meetings during a Romance Tour.
